Charles A. B. Kellers to theatres and other entertainments. On Oct. 27 last they went over to Jersey City and were married. They returned to the city and took up their residence at the Brunswick Hotel as Mr. and Mrs. Kellers. Keller says that she represented that she was divorced from her husband and that her father was dead.

But pay them as she should marry a dowry of $9,000. As the dowry did not seem to be forthcoming and there were certain discrepancies in statements, Kellers went to see members of the family and also of the family of Dr. Richter. Lawyer Richter, a brother of Dr. Richter told Kellers that the woman was still the wife of Dr. Richter.

day prior to the court. Common picks yesterday for an absolute divorce from William, a tailor, John Glennon testified that one night last spring he and the defendant went with a woman they met on the street to 228 West Fortieth street. The woman remarked: "Dr. Parkhurst should be on the island. He has driven me into the streets, and lots of other like are in the same fix."

He witness said the judge in answer to questions that he had never told any person of this incident before he came to court. He did not know how the plaintiff knew of his evidence. Judge Pryor said it was evident that the witness and the defendant were in collusion.

"If we were putting up a job," said Col. A. H. Watson, counsel for the plaintiff, "my God, I wish much better a one we could have put up."

The judge said the circumstances were peculiar, and Mr. Dawson said if he had not thought it a clean case he would not have taken it. Judge Pryor said that all were liable to be implicated upon. He also said that it appeared as if the defendant had taken Glennon with him so that he could be a witness against the defendant. The judge reserved decision.

MICHAEL CAPEZZUTO'S TRIAL.

Says He Had Planned to Fight a Duel With His Wife's Lover.

Michael Capezzuto, who is on trial in the ordinary Court of Oyer and Terminer for murder of his wife, took the stand yesterday. He said he had been a sergeant in the country as a manufacturer of syrups. He married the woman whom he killed last summer in Naples, and came back to this country at her request. He thought she wanted to come to this country to meet a man named Leonato, her alleged lover. In Boston his wife gave him a he came to New York, where it was arranged that he and Leonato should fight a duel. The duel was not fought, though Capezzuto bought pistols.

As to the killing of his wife Capezzuto said that he wrenched a small knife from her, and when she put her hand in her bosom he caught her by the wrist and thrust the knife into her back as she was reaching for a dagger. Then

Before the Judge asked: "Was it because you thought you were in danger that you shot her several times in the back?"

Capezzuto replied that he was beside himself. In the store where the woman was taken she threatened to haunt Capezzuto, and to take him home to grave with her. Capezzuto said he replied: "For the present you go to the grave; I

Several witnesses testified to Capezuto's good character.
The case will go to the jury to-day.
